The New Job Security-
The 5 Best Strategies for Taking Control of Your Career

Wednesday, April 6, 10:00 a.m. – noon
Weston Golf Club

Your job security, either in your current job or in the one you're planning, is about to take a leap forward. Pam Lassiter, President of the global career management firm, Lassiter Consulting, will bring you the latest news from her research on career management trends presented in the recently released revision of The New Job Security-the 5 Best Strategies for Taking Control of Your Career.

The approach places job security right into the hands of you, the professional who is actively managing your career. Job security is alive and well. It's just that the location has moved. It has shifted from the company's control to yours. How do you...

- create work during economic uncertainty?
- clearly communicate so people remember you?
- motivate companies to respond?
- build networks that are interactive and sustainable?
- give employers a way to say "yes" during negotiations?

If you master these career skills now, they will serve you well both when you are in transition (which is inevitable), when you want to grow within your companies and even for retirement. Career management is for today and tomorrow.

Come to hear about building your own job security and leave with new ideas that will help you be successful.

The New Job Security-the 5 Best Strategies for Taking Control of Your Career has been awarded the Editor's Choice designation by CareerJournal.com, the Wall Street Journal's career website. Books will be available for sale at $10 each (30% off retail).
